

Formed in 2012, Zink & Company consists of Lead vocalist and guitarist Corey Zink, John Roc, mandolin & vocals; Keith Edwards, bass & vocals; and Dan Menzone, banjo. These four talented musicians share years of combined recording and performance experience. The band has become popular in the North East and Canada over the last few years and has become known for Zink's heartfelt songwriting and their unique and dynamic renditions of some of your old favorite tunes.

Zink & Company is firmly rooted in the traditions of the early decades of bluegrass and country music. The band can be counted on for their powerful musicianship combined with Zink's smooth lead baritone vocal, which sounds just as much at home with a driving bluegrass tune as it does a tear-filled country weeper. The Zink & Company members have come together to create a recipe of entertainment with a tight, cohesive sound that you are sure to love.
